The Blenheim

These are exceptional family homes have been designed to impress from the very start. As you enter, you'll immediately be drawn to the living room, where a large feature bay window lets the sunlight flood in. At the rear of the house, the spacious kitchen-family-dining area is the heart of the home, with a beautifully-appointed kitchen, rooflight lantern and full-width bi-folding doors that open-out onto the patio and rear garden. With a convenient utility room, a downstairs cloakroom and a fully-integrated garage, all your practicalities are easily covered. Upstairs, the principal bedroom is enhanced by a luxurious en-suite shower room and dressing area, the second bedroom also features it's own en-suite shower room – and there are two further generous bedrooms. Off the landing, an elegant family bathroom – with contemporary sanitaryware and stylish fittings – completes these impressive homes.

Oakwood Terrace is positioned in the picturesque and highly sought-after village of Writtle, located just to the west of cosmopolitan Chelmsford. It's a discrete location that is perfect for that rural, yet well-connected lifestyle feel.

Clustered around a quintessential village green and pond, residents will be pleased to find a village hall, a post office, pharmacy, library and mini-market.

With these 'on-hand' modern conveniences rubbing shoulders with a charming Norman church and some excellent examples of well-preserved architecture dating back hundreds of years, it's understandable why Writtle has a reputation as one of the loveliest villages in England.

Highly-regarded local establishments such as The Rose & Crown and Olio on the Green both serve a good range of drinks and freshly-made food, while the locally renowned Chequers, which has seen significant refurbishment inside and out, is a beautiful family-run country pub, serving great home cooked food and beverages to suit modern tastes.

"Everything you need for retail, leisure and entertainment is within reach, and good travel links mean you can be in London in under an hour – with other commercial centres like Braintree, Brentwood and Colchester also not far away and, of course, the bustling city of Chelmsford is right on your doorstep."

The area boasts a wide range of opportunities to relax and unwind, including restaurants, public houses, golf courses, shopping centres, parks, leisure centres, and children's activity clubs; making this an ideal place to live for families with children of all ages.

A wealth of modern offerings and amenities are within easy reach of home.

You will find everything you could possibly need just a stone's throw away in central Chelmsford, with an eclectic mix of major high street brands and department stores alongside fashionable coffee houses, restaurants and fine eateries that will please the most experimental in culinary tastes. For leisure and entertainment, there are a wealth of health and fitness clubs in the city – or you can visit the modern multi-screen cinema, Civic Theatre, or catch a day's play at Essex County Cricket Club.

If you prefer to relax with your family in beautiful surroundings, then Hylands Park is ideal. Popular with all ages, the pristine grounds are dotted with woodlands and include a large play area for children, with cafés open in the summer for coffees, ice-creams and snacks. The prestigious Hylands House itself is a highly sought-after venue for exclusive fairs, and the estate plays host to a wide variety of events and shows that can be enjoyed throughout the year.

Good education opportunities in the area are almost peerless, with the Writtle Green Pre-School and the Writtle Infant and Junior schools serving families with younger children locally – and a wide selection of secondary school choices available in-and-around around Chelmsford. Schools ranging from the nearby Hylands School, through to the well-respected King Edward VI Grammar School and Chelmsford County High School For Girls are all known for their very high ongoing performances.

For those wanting to continue their education further, Chelmsford is home to several major arms of the Anglia Ruskin University, and Writtle itself is home to the Academy Arts Theatre School and the long-established Writtle University College; centred around the site of one of King John's 13th-century hunting lodges, it is one of the oldest and largest land-based colleges in the UK, providing further and higher education courses in agricultural and design fields.

Enjoying a semi-rural position, Writtle is on the edge of the glorious Essex countryside, yet boasts straightforward travel connections into the thriving city of Chelmsford and beyond – ensuring the homes at Oakwood Terrace are perfectly located to offer the very best in peaceful surroundings, and easy access to everything you could want from the wider area.

Excellent local road links mean residents of Oakwood Terrace are within easy reach of the A414, in turn connecting with the M11 which leads north to Stansted Airport and onwards to the famous city of Cambridge. Writtle's close connections to the A12 offers a direct route into London and also means north-east Essex and picturesque Suffolk – with their stunning landscapes and beautiful coastlines – are also easy to reach.

Shenfield and Brentwood – with their upmarket offerings – are just 10 and 11 miles away respectively, and with arrival of Crossrail now enabling direct journeys to some hugely notable and popular destinations, residents of Oakwood Terrace will be able to take advantage of the significantly improved access into and through central London like never before. For those who like to explore, the region north-east of Chelmsford, encircled by the A414, M11 and A120 is filled with quiet, picturesque villages, each with characterful, upmarket restaurants and public houses serving fine ales, well-chosen wines and excellent food.
